

I Miss You

Clay Edwards

Intro:

For the sunrise does prophesy of my Beloved's return
And while the night remains I will prophesy of my Beloved's return

Verse 1:

I want to sing along as creation groans
The only song it now knows: "I miss You"
I'm longing for the day when I'll see Your face
We'll fellowship in time and space; I want to hasten the day
When You come back to stay

Chorus 1:

I miss You, I miss You
I miss You; won't You come home again

Verse 2:

You said it'd be better then if You leave
Then You could come live in me—what sweet communion
Yet the spirit within me, still it groans
For somehow together we know there's more to the story
So together we sing

Chorus 2:

Return, return
Return, return

Verse 3:

When my faith becomes reality
And You're standing next to me, I'll sing, "I love You"
And at the dispensation of the fullness of time
All things made one in Christ; but for now, I will sing

Bridge:

All creation groans and waits for You to come
All creation groans and waits for You to come
